Mass Meeting Discuss Irrigation

About 250 contract holders, non-contract holders, Interent contract holders and others deeply interested in the question of irrigation for this Western Block attended the Mass Meeting held to discuss this very important question Tuesday afternoon.

Representatives were present from, Ouelletville, Cluny, Gleichen, Dalemead, Indus, Langdon, Shepard, Corrich, M. D., Chedale, Chancellor, Standard, Redlands, Namaka, Rockyford, Baintree, Tudor, Ardenode, Nightingale, Kathryn, Irricana, Keoma, Dalroy, Lyalta, Hussar, Delacour and Strathmore.

Don J. McKinnon, M. L. A. presided, stating the purpose of the meeting, he called on Mr. Wheatley to give a brief review of the committee's findings up to date. Mr. Wheatley explained that on the formation of the two large Units, M. D. Serviceberry had approached M. D. Bow Valley with a proposition to go to Edmonton to consult the Minister of Public Works as to the question of irrigation in this Western Section. A joint committee would be formed to study the findings have already been published.

Mr. Wheatley again explained the districts that are already without water, and the certainty that all of the others would be, unless some action was taken this year. He explained that the Minister of Public Works committee as organized is now complete, and that if the meeting desire to carry on the use of irrigation that from this meeting a new committee be appointed, this committee to consist of one representative from each locality.

The chairman then called on Mr. M. Sauder, Director of Water Resources for Provincial Government to address the meeting.

Mr. Sauder gave the early history of C. P. R. Irrigation in Alberta by explaining that in 1900 the Co. had been asked to make their final selection of lands, and on the advice of J. S. Dennis and William Pearce the C. P. R. was advised to take over one solid block between Medicine Hat and Calgary for the purpose of building irrigation works. This the Company did, dividing the block into Eastern, Central and Western Divisions. Construction of these irrigation works in the Western Section was started in 1903 and irrigable lands were offered for sale at $25 per acre and $15 for non-irrigable land. The ups and downs of crop failures, depression years etc. led to the present situation, in which it is evident the C. P. R. plans to relinquish all irrigation responsibility.

It has thus come to the point where the farmers must take over or else go back to dry land. The speaker stressed the serious situation that would thus develop, as with no irrigation there would be no spillways, small lakes would go dry, and surface wells would have no water. Mr. Sauder strongly recommended that the farmers take over for themselves.

Before deciding to do this Mr. Sauder felt those present would like to have some idea of the cost of operation. It is impossible to give a definite estimate not knowing how many farmers would want water. He assumed, however, that from 1,600 to 2,000 farmers will want stock water and about 25,000 to 35,000 will be irrigated. Based on this, he felt the annual expenditure would be about $75,000, that it would cost about $25 per 1/4 section for stock water and $1 per acre for irrigation. While the $1 per acre is higher than the 50¢ paid the Co. it is paid on the area irrigated only. Farmers who still have water contracts in good standing should be recommended in any new set up. If it is decided to form a Farmers' organization a petition addressed to the Hon. D. B. MacMillan should be circulated throughout the Western Section. If the petition receives the support of sufficient land owners it would then come before the Government for consideration etc.

Mr. Sauder answered several pertinent questions.

Chairman McKinnon explained that it was not the purpose of today's meeting to make definite plans of procedure, but to select a committee to carry on proceedings, if they wished to retain the water. This question being put to a meeting, it was carried by the large audience with only one dissenting vote.

Mr. McMaster of Tudor as a member of the Committee who went to Brooks to discuss the question with the present E. I. D. officials, stated that the E. I. D. operating cheaper than was done under the Company, that they have a surplus of $41,360 and the $900,000 given by C. P. R. still remains invested. Question—You (the E. I. D.) have some 160,000 acres of irrigable lands. What is the total cost of operation? Answer—$288,000.

MR. VALLANCE OF P. F. R. A. Mr. Vallance of Regina, of the P. F. R. A., spoke briefly but much to the point. He saw that the Farmers present have a real problem on hand. He made no definite promises as to what the P. F. R. A. or the Federal Government might do, in any way, but he made a satisfactory settlement with the C. P. R. but invited the committee to let them know in case they might require assistance. But he too strongly urged the absolute need of water.

J. A. McArthur of Gleichen moved that this meeting select a committee of 15 men, one from each district, from which number a negotiating committee be selected to meet the C. P. R. officials and report back to a general meeting. This was carried unanimously. It was agreed to elect this committee from the floor of the house.

Men elected were—Ouelletville—Joe Corbellel, Cluny—Harold Honens, Gleichen—J. A. McArthur, Carseland-Dalemead—D. J. McKinnon, Indus-Langdon—This appointment made by committee.

Dalroy—Morton McElroy, Chedale, Strathmore and Namaka—James Harwood and H. Groves.

Chancellor—J. M. Wheatley, S. Standard—Mr. Collins, Redlands and N. Standard—Reeve A. Larsen.

Rockyford, Baintree and Tudor—E. Cammatt, Nightingale and Ardenode—Phil Sarsons.

Kathryn, Keoma and Irricana—Geo. Boyack, Dalroy, Lyalta and Delacour—J. Anderson.

Reeve A. Larsen of Standard stated that he had just returned from a trip to the State of Washington through the Dust Bowl District and a visit to the Big Coulee Dam, and that unless we retained our irrigation system (and he advocated extending it to Hussar and Standard) we were headed for another Dust Bowl, the starting of which would be right here in Strathmore.

The meeting adjourned at 5.45 after three hours of serious, interesting and vital deliberation.

NEWLY APPOINTED COMMITTEE Messrs J. A. McArthur and W. E. Thompson were elected Chairman and Secretary respectively. It was decided that Messrs J. Harwood, J. M. Wheatley and G. Boyack together with the Chairman and Secretary form the negotiating committee.

Mr. J. E. Brownlee is to be secured as legal adviser, and it is hoped to secure Mr. P. M. Sauder as Technical Adviser.

A further large meeting will be held at the call of the Executive Committee.

Minutes Of Mass Meeting

This meeting was adjourned until 3 p.m. The funeral of the late Lars S. Egeland was being held and many persons attending this funeral intended coming to this meeting.

At 3.05 p.m. the meeting was again called to order by Chairman D. J. McKinnon who asked Mr. Wheatley to give a short report on all matters and other meetings leading up to the meeting this day.

Mr. Wheatley explained and again pointed out that through the action of the Municipal Committee the C. P. R. agreed to refrain from taking on structures from canals which served no water users under Water Agreements. This concession was reached with assistance of the Water Resources Branch, of the Dept. of Agriculture.

P. M. Sauder, Director of Water Resources, Edmonton, then addressed the meeting. He estimated that the Western Irrigation System could be operated as a stock watering project and with a limited irrigation acreage, from 25,000 to 35,000 acres for approximately $75,000 per annum. Much, however, would depend upon the support given by farmers to make this possible. He also suggested that some understanding be reached regarding the water rights Interent and Final Water Agreements. He explained that the C. P. R. Company should reimburse these men so that these holders would be in the same position as other men who had signed off their water rights and secured remuneration through compromises etc.

Mr. Sauder kindly left his prepared paper for the use of this Committee, he also added—That should a petition be circulated, which was intimated, the petition should be prepared and forwarded to the Provincial Government before being circulated. Some legislation would be necessary to bring about an irrigation district and the petition had a direct bearing on that question.

It was regretted that J. E. Brownlee, K. C. could not be present with us today. He prepared a memorandum for his committee outlining steps to be taken by the committee be appointed his day for the purpose of negotiating with the C. P. R. should the context so require. This memorandum was read.

Mr. Vallance of the P. F. R. A., Regina, was present, and was introduced to the meeting, which he addressed. While it was impossible to get assistance for an irrigation district under the P. F. R. ACT he did suggest that if the proposed negotiations with the C. P. R. Company were complete it was very advisable to take up the question of assistance with the P. F. R. A. who would refer the matter directly with the Federal Government.

On motion of J. A. McArthur and B. F. Graham, it was agreed that this meeting appoint a committee of fifteen men from the 15 portions of this district and that this large committee appoint a smaller committee from its members to meet with the C. P. R. officials and make preliminary negotiations and report back at a future meeting.

REPLY TO CHALLENGE

At the large Irrigation Meeting on Tuesday, answering the challenge made by "Ratepayer" as printed in last week's Strathmore Standard, J. M. Wheatley on behalf of the three Municipalities represented, read the By-law No. 256 on page 77 of the Municipal District Act which reads as follows:—"The Council may pass a by-law for the purpose of granting any sum or sums, not exceeding two hundred dollars, to assist in paying the expenses of investigating the possibilities of irrigation, and of organizing irrigation districts in the Municipal District is interested."

Hence the Council declared they were quite within their rights in charging up said expenses, and they had made the division for the three M. D's on a basis of 40-40-20.

Air Marshall W. A. Bishop V. C. has been elected chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board to succeed the late Sir Edward Beatty. In its early days the Salvation Army met violent opposition from both the ignorant and the intolerant, but today it stands not only as a monument to the sincerity and energy of its leaders, but as evidence of the newer spirit of human brotherhood.

The Alberta command of the Canadian Legion, in Edmonton, Edmonton, endorsed a resolution calling for restoration of Remembrance Day, November 11, as a statutory holiday throughout the Dominion.

On motion of Nelson and Sarsons it was agreed, that the Irrigation Committee's expenses be financed by the Municipalities and that we petition the three municipal districts concerned for his financial support up to the limit allowed by the Municipal Act. A committee of fifteen men was elected and is given elsewhere.

Mr. Wheatley moved that we express our appreciation of our guest speakers this day, Messrs Sauder and Vallance. Mr. Nelson moved a vote of thanks to the retiring committee.

Mr. Rosenberger gave the motion to adjourn.

The newly appointed committee then went into session.

It was agreed that J. A. McArthur act as chairman and W. E. Thompson as secretary, of this committee.

On motion Wheatley and Boyack it was agreed that our Chairman appoint a committee for the Indus-Langdon area as this has been overlooked in the large meeting.

James Harwood, J. M. Wheatley and G. Boyack were elected to a committee to report upon our small executive with Chairman and Secretary.

On motion of McKinnon and McMaster it was agreed, that we secure J. E. Brownlee K. C. for our legal counsel and that Messrs Harwood, Wheatley and McArthur interview Mr. Brownlee on June 18th, with a view to completing the proposed arrangements.

On motion of Wheatley and Boyack it was agreed that we petition the Minister of Agriculture to place Mr. P. M. Sauder at the disposal of this committee as Technical Adviser during these negotiations.

CANADIAN EDITORS OVERSEAS

—By Walter R. Legge—
ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS IN WARTIME

Like everything else, the news papers in England have been very much changed by the war. Imagine news stands which will not sell you a newspaper. Imagine the advertising managers of newspapers being courted by those who are trying to buy a little of the space available.

One of our first experiences was at the news stand in our London hotel. We had heard rumours of the Dieppe raid which took place as we were Canada, but we had not read anything about it. We were anxious to see a newspaper. However, the news stand could not sell us one unless it was ordered in advance.

Thus we abruptly learned to appreciate a privilege which we do not think about here, the privilege of being able to buy a newspaper at any time. People over there are now glad to have any paper at all. The privilege of having a paper delivered every day is highly prized one. A householder who goes away for a time often finds on his return that someone has taken the right to get his daily paper, and it may be a hard task to get back in the good graces of the paper boy.

People travelling on a train will nearly always pass their newspaper around to the other people in the compartment after they have read it.

Newspaper is severely rationed in England. Not only have the publishers been forced to reduce the number of pages to a fraction of the usual volume, but the circulation has had to be drastically curtailed. In many cases the size of the pages and the width of the columns have been reduced.

We were entertained at the Daily Telegraph, the Daily Express, The Times, and Reuters Agency. We were shown through their plants and given every courtesy.

At one of these newspapers, we found that the paper has been cut down from an average issue of 28 pages. In addition, the circulation has been cut from 920,000 daily average to 650,000. Several hundred applications for subscriptions each day have to be refused. This is typical of the restrictions on all the newspapers.

All of these plants have duplicate plants deep in the ground, very comfortably and completely fitted up so that the entire work of getting out the paper can be carried on without interruption during raids. Moreover, several of these papers have complete plants in other cities, where some editions are printed every day. For instance, the Daily Express, which has a daily circulation of about two and a half millions, is printed in three places London, Manchester and Glasgow. They are so co-ordinated by wire service that although they are set up and made up in each city, they are exactly alike on most pages.

Advertising has been cut to almost the same degree as the rest of the paper. The Daily Telegraph, we were told, refuses about thirty columns of advertising every day. Display advertising usually has to be booked several weeks in advance, and even then without any guarantee that it will appear. In cases where legal advertising must appear before a certain date care must be taken to advise the client if it cannot be printed, in order that an effort may be made to have it printed elsewhere.

Advertisements for beer and liquor may still be carried in the English papers, although they are now banned in Canada.

With so much difficulty in obtaining advertising space in the newspapers, it is not surprising to see a new development. Large numbers of notices, that ordinarily would be wanted ads in the papers, are now displayed on small cards in shop windows.

We saw a great many of such advertising cards, not printed, but written by hand, placed on display in the shop windows in many of the cities we visited. We do not know whether the shopkeeper makes a charge for all these notices (although we heard that some shopkeepers charge 5 shillings), and we wondered if this practice will continue after the war is over.

It is not surprising, with curtailments in the size and number of pages of the newspapers, that the news is also condensed. There are a great many very short items making up the news columns, but taking into consideration the difficulties under which they are operating, the British newspapers are very readable and give a surprisingly good news coverage in the space at their disposal. News of Canada appears in fairly good volume and is well presented.

We found that the Canadian soldiers are quite worried because it is no longer permitted to send papers over by mail, except actual subscriptions. They are afraid that subscription copies may also be banned. They appreciate the home paper now in a way that they never did before they left home. They read every word of it. One officer remarked that he considered a boatload of papers from home is a boatload of morale.

One reason why this restriction was placed on Canadian papers was that publishers had been bundling up their overruns, and sending them over to be distributed. We were told by one worker that he had seen at one time 600 bags of such papers, and he simply did not know what to do with them. There is no doubt that the publishers who sent them were anxious to help. They thought it was a good thing to do but it actually was a misguided effort.

It was a great pleasure to be able to visit one of the leading weekly newspapers, "The Bathurst Guardian" which was the paper on which my father, the late George Legge served his apprenticeship. This is one of the older weeklies of England and has been owned by the same family for a great many years.

It is interesting to compare present-day training with that of seventy years ago. In his memoirs, Mr. George Legge said, "The training I got in this establishment covered a much wider range than the technical schools of today, sweeping floors, buildings fires, washing rollers, sorting pye, fetching in beer, gin, rum, and snuff, varied by an occasional hour spent on the old canal bank ratcheting winnows for the foreman's next fishing trip."

Weekly papers have increased their from two pence to three pence per issue, advertising rates have increased about fifty percent since the start of the war, and the papers have decreased in size.

In England, the press is still free. The newspapers are able to choose what they shall print, and free to criticize anybody and anything. In the Axis lands and in the countries the Axis have overrun, those who print the unblinded news, and offer any criticism do so under constant peril of death.

F. W. GERSHAW WRITES FROM OTTAWA

Dr. Benes, President in Exile of the Czechoslovakian Republic, addressed the Members today. He said that up to 1938 his country had been happy and prosperous. Prague had been the centre of learning and culture. His country fostered peace and encouraged friendship with all her neighbors. She was a loyal member of the League and had supported the Lachino policy and the Kellogg peace pact.

When Hitler saw that Japan's entry into Manchuria, Italy's invasion of Abyssinia, and the German militarization of the Rhineland were not opposed by force, he saw the opportunity to realize his Pan-German plan. Since Prague was taken by the Germans, the people had been pillaged, many had been killed, tortured and imprisoned, and many taken as forced laborers to Germany. His people are fighting for the restoration of their own country for the democratic way of life, for Collective Security and permanent peace.

In November, 1938, Dr. Benes said, regarding the danger of war,—"I do not know when it will break out, possibly in one year, perhaps in 2 or 3 years. I personally doubt whether it will take more than a year. The first to suffer the blow will be Poland; and France will pay horribly. Hitler will attack all in the West, and even Russia. In the end America too will be in." This prediction was fulfilled to the word and Dr. Benes now predicts that the war will end in the winter of 1943-44. The prayer of all will be that this prediction will also be fulfilled.

Sir William Beveridge also spoke in the Railway Committee Room. He said New Zealand had a Social Security Scheme very much like the one he advanced for Britain. The chief difference was in the financing. Each man in New Zealand pays one pound a year and all salaries, wages and other income are taxed 5% for this fund. Sir William said his plan called for a 3 way contribution from the insured person, the employer and the State. He said the people of Britain did not want a non-contributory scheme and none of the bodies representing the insured persons, the trade unions or the friendly societies had proposed abolishing the contribution. He had planned to have 1/3 raised by contribution from individuals, 1/3 from the employer and the remainder by the State. The method of financing the Canadian scheme has not been decided upon. The British plan will not come in till after the war is over in any case.

"WE NOT ONLY HAUL 'EM - WE BUILD 'EM TOO"

ALTHOUGH we, the Canadian railways, are carrying vastly more traffic than at any time in history, we are also building guns and tanks, ships and shells. Our machinery of production hums day and night. Implements of war roll from our plants in steady streams. They're made by the railways... hauled by the railways... the railways of Canada.

Only your railways, ready and capable of meeting the emergency before it occurred, can handle this double "must"... mass transportation and mass war production.

Your railways met a mighty challenge in Canada's period of construction. They are rendering dual service in War's period of destruction. They will be needed more than ever in the reconstruction period of peace. They will meet that challenge, too!

IRRIGATION FOR WESTERN BLOCK

THEY were a serious minded group of men and women who attended the Irrigation Meeting Tuesday, and rightly so.

They were discussing the fundamental question of water by which eventually our standard of living would either be maintained or lowered. It comes as a shock to many, to learn that if the irrigation water is cut off, our surface wells will in a very few years, go dry.

The lack of seepage from spillways and artificial lakes would cause our trees to die, which are such a protection, and of which we are so proud. Green feed for stock would no longer be assured with all its dire consequences.

These and other similar factors were at the root of the discussion, which these men had thought through.

They are questions which touch the very corner stone of the structure of life, hence the reason for the serious atmosphere.

It was withal, a very successful meeting, and we are of the opinion that success will result from the work of the Committee.

Feeding A Hungry World

(From Christian Science Monitor)

THE statement of the fundamental British food policy given at the first British conference does much to clear the air of secrecy that prevailed.

Quite usefully too, the British statement indirectly brings home the essential fact that the problem of feeding a hungry world is not simply one of production and distribution. In the postwar world it is likely to be a sharp political problem as well.

The British statement, in calling for a new era of unrestricted, augmented world-wide food production, supplements one of the first and most significant points of agreement arrived at by the conference. This was that there must be an end, and no return to, the practices of plowing under cotton, paying farmers not to grow food, and killing little pigs.

The King Visits North Africa

Cheering the troops by his presence and interest and seeing conditions at first hand, the King has made his second visit to an active war theatre, showing his genuine concern for the men in action.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE STRESS POWER OF PRAYER

In a statement to the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, the Directors first emphasized the word "prayer," then followed with the term "miracle of deliverance" which is to be accepted, they said, as the logical answer to righteous prayer.

Thus, deliverance from the hand of the oppressor was seen by the Directors to be no miracle at all, but rather a simple witnessing to the fact that power springs from the prayer of understanding.

"A prayer people can never suffer defeat," summarized the Directors' remarks to several thousand Christian Scientists assembled in The Mother Church.

Reports heard from the broad field of Christian Science activities indicated that demands for spiritual enlightenment were as universal as ever, only growing more and more pronounced under the stress of world conditions. From the armed services and along the home front, the reports revealed unusual demands for church literature binging upon an increasing effort to bring prayer to bear upon the crucial tests of the times.

"Battles are not won," the Director said, "through trust alone, but through intelligent, scientific preparation and skillful execution. As we reach out to God through understanding prayer, the human footsteps to bring our deliverance from this cruel warfare and all evil will be revealed."

BUILDING HAY STACKS TO SHED WATER

Don't forget the annual General Field Day which is being held at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, on Saturday, June 19th.

Last winter, in one of these letters attention was drawn to the necessity of putting up well constructed high hay stacks that would shed water. The necessity of having a good hay stacker was emphasized and one type, a single pole hay stacker, was described. This stacker was suggested because it is not expensive and is quite satisfactory. Other good hay stackers are in use and numbers of farmers are rolling their hay off with ropes and doing quite a satisfactory job.

Just at this time it seems desirable to again mention the necessity of putting up all the hay that is available and making high, large stacks that will stand the weather. The principal of satisfactory stacking besides

SUNFLOWERS

The war is making a real valuable plant out of the sunflower. And its importance may continue after the war ends, for it has established a useful place for itself in the making of oils and other materials.

Moose Jaw's Federal Member, J. Gordon Ross, has 500 acres of sunflowers in crop this year. Last year he had a big crop, too, and he sold almost all of it for seed.

Sunflowers are easy to raise in the prairie country, and if it becomes a marketable crop because of the uses to which it is now being put, farmers may set aside an acreage of it as part of each year's production.

Keep an eye on the sunflowers. They may prove a source of revenue for farmers in many areas when other crops fail.

having large stacks is to keep the centre of the stack high and well tramped. Where a hay pole or other type of hay derrick is used, the centre of the stack is well packed as much of the hay can be dropped from the slings or the fork into the centre of the stack.

The reason for having the centre well tramped and high is to ensure that when the stack settles the outside will settle more than does the centre. This causes the hay to slope downward from the centre of the stack out and makes each layer of hay act as a thatch turning any water outward from the stack. If the centre settles more than the outside, the hay will slope downward toward the centre and the rain or water from melting snow will run into the stack causing spoilage.

Another provision that helps in ensuring the stack to settle more on the outside is to slope the stack outward slightly as it is being built. If a stack is started about 16 feet wide and sloped out until it is about 20 feet wide before it is topped, it will be quite sure to settle more on the outside than in the centre, especially if the centre is kept well tramped.

The point then to remember, in stacking hay, is to have high stacks that have minimum amount of surface exposed and to stack so that the outside will settle more than does the centre.

Plans for pole hay stackers can be secured by writing to the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge.

Royal Canadian Academy and Handicrafts

Armorial Bearings of Canada

For the first time since the Royal Canadian Academy was established, in 1882, space in the Annual Academy Show for 1943 will be allotted to Handicrafts. These will be assembled at Montreal from all over the Dominion by the Canadian Handicrafts Guild for the Guild's own Show, and a selection will be made by an Academy Jury for the Academy's own Show which will be held in October at Quebec and then transferred to Montreal in November. In addition to the usual crafts, special prizes are being offered by the Guild for a Victory Banner, suitable for display in churches and reproducing the Armorial Bearings of Canada in embroidery, applique, painted silk or woven tapestry. At the suggestion of the Academy, a new category has been introduced of Corporate Exhibits which may be submitted by such corporate bodies as ecclesiastical orders, convents and schools of art and handicraft administered under provincial authority and like institutions, the exhibits to be submitted by the head of the institution or school. These corporate exhibits may include designs for craftwork as well as executed works. The Canadian Handicrafts Guild, which has its headquarters in Montreal, was incorporated in 1906 and has branches or affiliated Societies in each of the Provinces of Canada. It was delegated last year by the Interdepartmental Committee of the Federal Government at Ottawa to assemble an Exhibit of Canadian Handicrafts for the Women's International Exposition of Arts and Industries at Madison Square Garden, New York. A number of the craftworkers in Canada have won international recognition, such as Geneva, of Calgary, for her embroidery; Doris LeCocq, of British Columbia, for glazed pottery exhibited at the Royal Academy in London, and Kjeld and Erica Deilmann, potters of Moss Glen, N. Brunswick. The Canadian Guild of Potters had an excellent exhibition of the work of its members recently in the Toronto Art Gallery. The Province of Quebec has been a strong supporter of the renaissance in handicraft, and has organized weaving in rural districts so extensively that there are now 60,000 looms and 100,000 spinning wheels in use in that Province.

51,321 individual shareholders own Canada's Chartered Banks. The average holding is 28 shares. Most of these shareholders are Canadians.

The wide distribution of bank ownership is indicated by the fact that 36,574 individuals, living in all parts of Canada, hold shares in the Chartered Banks of Canada. Of the remaining shareholders, 8,987 live elsewhere in the British Empire.

Some further facts about Canada's Banks:

There are 4,369,740 savings deposit accounts in the Chartered Banks of Canada, averaging $391 each. Safeguarding the funds of depositors is a primary function of commercial banking. Banks keep themselves in such a position that anybody going to the bank to withdraw his savings can get his money. Banks, like any other business, exist because they provide service which a community needs and is willing to pay for at a rate which will yield a reasonable return.

Every day, bank loans are helping Canadians in all walks of life and in all parts of Canada to profit from their individual enterprise and industry.

People of Jamaica look forward to the time when they can listen to the new Canadian high power short wave station now being constructed by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for the Canadian government, according to Dr. Augustin Frigon, CBC assistant general manager, just returned from the West Indies.

He added that the same eagerness is shown by English speaking people living in South American countries, and said that when Canada goes on the air by short wave there will be no lack of interested listeners in that part of the globe.

Your Income Tax....

MINISTER OF NATIONAL REVENUE
CANADA

FELLOW CANADIAN

I would like to remind the two million taxpayers of Canada of their obligation to file a 1942 Income Tax Return before the 30th of June.

This year, the forms have been simplified so that they can be completed with a minimum of time and effort.

The Income Tax dollars that Canadians pay are necessary in our present struggle. They are an investment in our future peace and security. They are fighting dollars.... Victory dollars.

Income Tax is fair to all, as each person is taxed in accordance with his ability to pay.

There is no easy way to win a war. Almost half the costs of this war must be paid by taxes. I know that the Income Tax is not a pleasant burden, but I also know that to win the war, Canadians are willing to fulfil their obligations.... to pay the price and to shoulder their responsibilities with the same unbeatable spirit as shown by those who have gone from our shores to fight.

Bobbie Begins to Reason (Edith Brandis)

Bobbie began to ask questions almost as soon as he could walk. Many children do. His mother, his father, in fact all his relatives, answered his questions, even trivial ones, carefully and accurately, because they realized he had begun to carry on trains of thought for himself.

Sometimes he asked hard questions, hard because they led into scientific fields. His family did the best they could to put the answers into words a little boy could understand. Often they were forced to look up facts in order to answer simply and accurately. They were not ashamed then or later to say, "I don't know, but we will try to find out," or, "I have forgotten. We will see what the book says."

Mother might say, as she often did, "We will ask daddy when he comes home. He will know."

If the questions were unanswerable, they said, "Nobody knows. Maybe when you grow up, you will be able to find out."

Wisely, they allowed the child's own interests, his own drives, his own urges-to-know, to set his pace. There was no attempt at forcing any interest.

His mother provided him with books picturing natural objects—birds, flowers, trees, mountains. He had books showing airplanes, tractors, automobiles, and other modern developments in the mechanical world.

Very early his mother began to read to him. He loved the singing rhythm of Mother Goose and of the verses in such books as 'When We Were Very Young' and 'A Child's Garden of Verses' and some more recent books verse and story. His mother taught him, too, to repeat many beautiful bits of prose and verse, and this he appeared to enjoy very much.

Bobbie learned through example, as well as precept, to handle books with loving care. He learned to read pictures and enjoyed doing this. When he was between four and five he began to make crayola pictures for himself.

Then came the happy day when he was old enough to enter his wider world, the kindergarten.

No attempt had been made or would be made in kindergarten to teach Bobbie to read. His mother and his teacher knew that "reading readiness" would develop little by little, day by day. When he entered the first grade he would be a little more than six years old, and physically ready for the experience. Now he wasn't. But he was already on friendly terms with books apart from their interesting pictures, having learned how useful they are. When the proper time came he would be eager to learn how to get the answers to his many questions by a book to talk, so that he could find himself.

The school children were very disappointed that the sports meet to be held in Cluny had to be postponed on account of rain last Friday.

LEGION NOTES

Members of the Legion were out in force last Tuesday. The meeting had been postponed to arrange our date to suit our guest speaker, who was T. H. Hamilton, Veterans' Welfare Officer.

His address dealt with the setup for returned men of the new army and the talk was of great interest. The many questions asked, showed the interest taken and it was agreed that there was a big improvement from what those who came back from the last war had been offered, in the way of being re-established. Comrade Ralph Henderson of Calgary Branch accompanied him. Ralph is no stranger to Strathmore having been a visitor for many years and holding many offices in the Provincial Command, now being Vice President and Past President of the Calgary Branch. Having been a delegate to the Provincial Convention held in Edmonton last week, he was able to give a fresh account of the doings there and of the many resolutions passed.

Cards of thanks for cigarettes from the boys overseas were too numerous to mention, and letters on the same subject were read from Chie Brown, Harold Freeman and H. VanDongen.

Bobbie Sharp was the guest of the evening on Active Service. Replying to the welcome given his brief talk indicated that the new army is right on its toes and fills the place the old soldiers held so long. There is no question of the younger generation being up to scratch and of being able to give a good account of themselves.

THE STANDARD REGRETS

That owing to the electrical storm of last Thursday a break in the Power lines occurred, cutting off our power in the office, hence after running off about 175 papers we were compelled to stop, hence we had to miss one mail which resulted in several subscribers not receiving their papers on the regular day.

The Chagrin of a printer under these circumstances is better not expressed.
